Collaboration in The Cloud

February 20, 2014 Free Webinar

Presentations by Merck, Exostar and Ubercloud

(Tinton Falls, NJ) The BioPharma Research Council (BRC) will present Collaboration in The Cloud on February 20. The program will be simulcast via webinar.

The program will explore two programs-- Engagezone and UberCloud-- that have been developed to address the data challenges in the Cloud.

Wolfgang Gentzsch, Co-Founder of UberCloud; Tom Johnson, Managing Director at Exostar; and Andrea Kirby, IT Director at Merck will speak.

Wolfgang Gentzsch is a consultant for HPC, and Cloud Computing; Advisor to the EU funded project EUDAT; and the Chairman of the ISC Cloud Conferences.

Tom Johnson brings over 25 years of experience guiding process improvement and managing technology deployment. Tom leads the company's Life Sciences business collaboration program and directs the development and implementation efforts of the platforms' mobile device access and information protection solutions.

Andrea Kirby leads the overall External Partner Program at Merck as well as leading IT Account Management for World Wide Licensing, Knowledge Discovery/Knowledge Management, Global Competitive Intelligence and Alliance Management.
